Demosthenes, the Grecian orator, cured his stammering by having his mouth full of pebbles, and many are the modern orators who have cured their hoarseness by an occasional dose of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

There appears to be some dissatisfaction felt among the Zion's pastors in this city, in consequence of Rev. R. H. G. Dyson, visiting too much among the members of their churches, and gossiping to the detriment of their interest, in order to defeat their success and enhance his own.

If this be so, the bishops should put a stop to it. They say Rev. Dyson is too officious. He is prejudiced to the success of the young men.

It is amusing to see people with their faces drawn as if they had swallowed a feather and it was tickling their lungs and they would be happy if they could only sneeze. Now there is no need of "making faces" A bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup will draw your face back into a smile.

NEW THINGS AT TABLE.

WHAT WILL BE THE MODE THIS SEASON—DINNERS GIVEN AND ARRANGED FOR.

Dinners are gradually coming to divide time and attention with weddings. There were several during the week, and, although none were in themselves of great moment, yet taken all together they made a very agreeable diversion. There is an apparent tendency in dinners this season to do away altogether with heavy viands, when ladies are among the company. Substantial roasts and saddles of mutton have given way to filets about as big round as a watch case with a trifle of artichoke of bean-aise.

The purpose is to have everything so frail that the knife may be dispensed with, and women be enabled to provide themselves plentifully with a fork and without the necessity, if impulse move, of removing their gloves. Flowers are more used than ever, and are likely to be all winter. Three women, whose influence ordinarily is forceful in setting the modes in society, undertook to array themselves against the use of flowers as dinner-table decorations.

They gave an elaborate luncheon, and forbade the use of a single rose upon or about the table. They experienced so much difficulty, however, in procuring substitutes of even half the decorative beauty that flowers possess that they abandoned the fight, and, at a dinner given by one of them the other night, all precedent in the lavish use of roses was surpassed. The stand to make now is against the vulgar over-doing of a very pretty idea. China and fine glass more than hold their own in popular favor and one sees porcelain in town that would be prized in the home of a Howard. Decorations are, and apparently, if one may judge by what is already to be seen, will continue to be, pronounced in colors, red and other bright, warm tints prevailing. No hue predominates, however, to the exclusion of others.

What were called yellow dinners at Bar Harbor are already decided passe. They never indeed were much in favor except with social sensationalists, and they could not last if for no other reason than the one that only one complexion in a thousand could stand against them. For an Autumnal kink the many hued leaves of Fall are very pretty as decorations and are a good deal used. They may be preserved after gathering for two weeks or more by keeping them in cold water. Rich red ivy has also been used with great effect, and will probably come into decided favor for big occasions. But ivy grows so slowly that the generous use of it means great expense.—Philadelphia Press.

WEST WASHINGTON.

James L. Turner, Agent and Reporter.
1417 West 28 Street.

There was a large funeral of one of our most prominent citizens of West Washington, and a member of the First Baptist church, on Saturday last at 2:30 p. m. It was that of Mrs. Maria Jenkins, the devoted daughter of Wm. and Martha Wormly.

SOUTH WASHINGTON.

The night schools at the Randall, and the colored Industrial School of trades at 4th st., and Va. Ave. s. w. are advances of progress in South Washington.

Notwithstanding, the approach of winter, Third street improvement is being pushed to completion.

There was never a time in the history of South Washington, when so many handsome two story, five and six room houses were built as are being built now for $10, $12, and $16 monthly.

The debate at the Israel C. M. E. Literary on Monday evening last, was full of lively interest. The discussions were ably handled, and each speaker, acted as though he had come with fifty preparations for the purpose.

While the Bee would suggest that stubborn facts which are irresistible were presented through that truth which make men free, both by the speaker on color line under the head of observation, and unsettled question, yet, it would recommend all parties to look beyond complexion for character.

There is a general disappointment in this community on account of the sudden change in the arrangement for the free night schools which were to have been held in the Randall Building, instead of the Lincoln.

The musical and Literary entertainment at the St. Paul A. M. E. church 8th st., in the interest of the Cato Ward monument fund, was a grand success on Thursday evening last. Among the most brilliant of the evening was Miss Ella V. Campbell, who championed all debates.

Dr. S. A. Sumby, has already begun the refurnishing of his very handsome drug store on the cor. of 3d and E. sts.

Mr. S. A. Webb, the well known new and seconded clothes dealer, has removed from 610 to 513 4th and F sts., dont fail to call and continue your large patronage with him.

The paper read by Mr. Boston, before the Israel C. M. E. Literary Society on Mon. evening last, considered by all present as too excellent a production upon the subject unsettled question, to be criticised even by Mr. E. G. Leonard, who made such an eloquent address.

Instrumental music, and a solo rendered by the Rev. R. S. Williams, pastor, were acceptable with Mr. W. H. Bush, their president in the chair.

Rev. G. L. Davis, pastor of miles chapel, 8th bet., L and N. Y. Ave. n. w., being about to leave the city, was tendered a grand reception, by Mr. Lewis W. Hilary at his handsome residence 312 2d st., on Monday evening last, attended by a large number of friends.

The many new houses that are being put here both by contracting companies, and worthy colored citizens, make South Washington appear as a new city.

The present suspension of work on the new church edifice of the Virginia Avenue Baptist church, 1st and H sts., does not show much like dedicating it to the service of the Lord by the 1st Sunday in February, 1887, and yet James A. Boyce, the contractor, promises it.

The reenrollment of the membership of this church, will take place on Sunday Nov. 28th, when all the members are noticed to be present. The collection on that day will consist only of the free will offering of the willing hearts present.

The Israel Baptist church north A and 7th sts., east Washington, of which Rev. Washington Holmes, is pastor, has changed its regular communion day, from the 4th to the fifth Sunday of each month at 3 p. m.

R. S. Laws, will preside over the communion services at the Rehoboth Baptist church to morrow at 3 p. m.

Rev. J. A. Taylor, General Agent of the African Mission work, is in the city, arranging for the convention on the 24th to be held with the Zion Baptist church, F. st. South Washington, and will preach at the Virginia Avenue Baptist church 6th st., and Va. Ave. s. w. to morrow morning at 11 o'clock.

The memorial service of the late Rev. Wm. B. Jefferson, which is to take place at the Third Baptist church, Franklin st. bet. 4th and 5th sts. n. w. at 3 p. m. on Sunday Nov. the 28th ought to be attended by all the ministers of the District, and vicinity.

Communion will be served at the Rehoboth, 1st bet. N and O sts. s. w. Bethlehem, Hillsdale, Fifth Baptist churches of this city, and the First church, Alexandria, Va., to morrow.

More people attend the Second Baptist literary from this section of the city on Thursday evening, than go from here to church; and yet on Monday evening, they seem equally as anxious for Israel C. M. E.

It is far better for a church to seek council before her Union is broken, than after-ward.

Sketches of an important sermon preached by the Rev. Dr. Laws, as previously announced, in which we took deep interest, were as follows. He preached from 2nd Kings, 4: 40. "Oh man of God, there is death in the Pot."

Here, said he, is an evident verification of God's word in vindication of his power over the powers of darkness; here is practical utility of an all seeing eye, obstructing the deep seated plans of an untimely evening, obscured from human sight.

He made his subject, poison; and contended, that Biblical evidences, that the truly righteous may tread on serpents and scorpions, or drink deadly things, poison, without harm, are sufficient security against superstition, and are ever abiding protection to God's people, who can never be hurt.

The expositions used, were 1st A dewase. 2d An evening; and 3d A thief. Either of which, he said was more than human match.
